Emma! Is
that you?

Sadie? Goodness,
how are you?

I haven't seen you
since bird scouts!

A cartoon illustration of two albatrosses in a forest. The albatross on the left is white with a dark grey body and a large, dark grey wing. It has a yellow beak and is looking towards the right. The albatross on the right is also white with a yellow beak and is looking towards the left. They are standing on a brown ground with green bushes and trees in the background. There are three speech bubbles: one from the left albatross, one from the right albatross, and one at the bottom from an unseen character.

Yeah!
Good old Troop
Albatross!

"Winging it is our aerial of expertise!"

Haha, yes! Our troop
had the best motto!

Ahh, I remember the days of selling bird scout cookies. We always ate far more than we sold!

Bird, please! Double-stuffed orioles were worth the shame!

Oh! Oh!

Do you remember the secret troop
beakshake?

Gillirl,
you know it!
